

Creating Knowledge IV
 17 August 2006,
 Copenhagen, Denmark

Dangerous Liaisons?
 Collaboration on the College Campus
 and the Teaching of Research skills

Dr Anastasia Logotheti <logotheti@acgmail.gr>

Department of English
 Deree College,
 The American College of Greece

The American College of Greece

Dangerous Liaisons?
 Collaboration on the College Campus
 Anastasia Logotheti

- Introducing ACG and Deree College
 - Internationally accredited liberal-arts college
- Introducing Deree College Students
 - The Google generation
- Introducing Deree College Library
 - In a state of transition
- Introducing myself
 - Teacher; tutor; scholar; administrator

The American College of Greece

Dangerous Liaisons?
 Collaboration on the College Campus
 Anastasia Logotheti

- EN 1111
 - The only compulsory writing course integrating research and critical skill all DC students have to take
- The EN 1111 Students
 - Freshmen; confused and frustrated
- The EN 1111 Research Exercises
 - Collaborative effort for the past 5 years

The American College of Greece

Dangerous Liaisons?
Collaboration on the College Campus
Anastasia Logotheti

- Faculty and Librarian Collaboration Issues
 - sibling rivalry: struggles over issues of
 - ownership; credit; responsibility
- (Mis)Perceptions of the Librarian's Role
 - Service and collaboration
- Barriers to Successful Collaboration
 - Defining roles
 - Establishing institutional structures

The American College of Greece

Dangerous Liaisons?
Collaboration on the College Campus
Anastasia Logotheti

- Dangerous Liaisons??

“IL is not yet seen as a necessity nor is it embedded in the internal culture. . . . to progress from ‘skills’ to implementing ‘literacy’ it is necessary to operate on common ground. . . . success will depend on whether librarians and faculty develop ways of collaborating closely over time”

Randi Tyse Eriksen & Astrid Kilvik

The American College of Greece

